Yale Class of 1964 50th Reunion

Henry Putzel III, Co-Chair
Waldo C.M. Johnston, Jr., Co-Chair
Christopher Getman, Co-Chair

May 2013

Dear Yale 1964 Classmates:

Our 50th Class Reunion is only a year away. Mark your calendars now for a memorable weekend, May 29–June 1, 2014. You have already heard from Reunion Chairs Pete Putzel, Chris Getman and Waldo Johnston and will be hearing more from them about the Reunion, but now it's time to begin work on our 50th Reunion Class Book.

We will produce a handsome hardcover book that will be mailed without charge to all members of our class well before the Reunion begins. It will not simply be a valued memento of our time in New Haven five decades ago, as well as an informative account of what has happened to us since those “bright college years,” but will surely also become an enjoyable reference in your library. The book will include a collection of special essays assembled by Jethro Lieberman, an In Memoriam section edited by Wayne Batcheler, a Class Survey managed by Don Edwards and Jim Bowers, and many other features including a beautiful selection of four-color Yale images. The book's core, and most involving section, will be our personal essays.

'64 has been a particularly good class in both the metrics and the quality of its involvement throughout the Yale communities. Now is your opportunity to breathe life into the book with a contribution of your choosing, to be enjoyed by classmates and family alike.

Here is a list of suggested topics, but feel free to contribute anything you wish.

- Basic information: your family and professional career(s)
- What have you learned (“life lessons”) since Yale
- What you have done that most defines you; how you want the grandchildren to remember you
- What has given you the most fulfillment?
- Hopes for yourself, your family, the world
- What are you doing now, what's ahead?

Your personal essay, up to 500 words, need not follow any particular format or rule. Feel free to write a straightforward account of your life and times. Then, please go beyond a simple chronology to write about current interests, highs and lows, lessons learned, your perspectives on life, politics, your Yale education, whatever. Some of you may prefer to have a spouse and/or a child write the biographical essay for you.

Our publishing goal is to achieve the highest possible level of participation in the biographical sketches section (even to beat the 80%-plus of '63). How disappointing it will be for you if we publish only the Alumni Records baseline information of your name, address and College. A previous editor wrote, “This is YOUR book full of YOUR words. If you don't write, there is no book. You all want to read interesting contributions from your classmates so you all must WRITE interesting contributions.” The procedure is quite easy:

FIRST: Go to the Class Book website.

Go to our Class of 1964 website: www.yale64.org. There you will click on the large button/graphic that says Update my profile for the 50th Reunion Class Book. (You don't need to log into the 1964 class site.) This will take you to the Class Book web pages where, after first-time sign-in, you can update your personal profile, post your essay and upload a photo or two. To sign in you'll use your unique Yale six-digit ID number, which you'll find at the top of the enclosed biographical questionnaire sheet. (Note – Keep that ID # handy for future use.) Then choose an online username and password that you can use any time to return to your personal profile.

SECOND: Update Your Biographical Information

The first and second screens of your online profile show the same information on the printed Bio Questionnaire included with this letter. Here you can update Yale's existing information as needed, and add extra information that Yale doesn't track, such as graduate school, personal honors and spouse's college and career. If for any reason you cannot edit the profile online, make the needed changes and additions on the enclosed sheets and return them to Reunion Press in the enclosed envelope to: 1964 Class Book, Reunion Press, P.O. Box 2130, Hagerstown, MD 21742, with your essay and photo, for posting.

THIRD: Enter Your Personal Essay

You can compose your essay on your computer and then copy and paste it into the appropriate box in your online profile. Or you can compose it directly online. Either way, you will have the luxury of making changes, additions, and edits any time you wish until September 15, 2013, at which time we will close and review all submissions and begin production. Online submissions will save you time and the class significant expense. If for any reason you cannot make an online submission, submit your personal essay to Reunion Press by mail using the enclosed envelope.

Your senior yearbook photo will appear with your entry in the Class Book, and we have included it in your online profile for you to verify in case the yearbook photo was incorrect. But we also would like a recent photo of you alone or with family, etc. It's quite easy to add photos to your online profile – just like attaching a snapshot to an e-mail. And you can write your own caption right under the photo. But if this does not work for you, please include photo prints in the envelope addressed to Reunion Press and be sure to identify them on the back. We should be able to include two or perhaps three photos per person, depending on space. Photos of larger families will be allotted more space.

FIFTH: Take the Survey Online

You will see the link to the Survey in the Class Book website. Please complete it.

CLASS BOOK HELP AND HOTLINE

Technical help with online submissions or accessing the Class Book website can be obtained via email at support@reuniontechnologies.com or by calling 609-924-0925 Ext. 1 (Monday-Friday, 9 to 5, Eastern time).

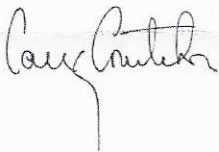

The expense of producing this book is significant, and our goal is to contain costs as best we can. By using the website to update your information and submit an essay and photo(s) you will help us reduce the handling of mailed forms and manual data entry by our book publisher, Reunion Press. Your continuing online access will enable you to make revisions, such as a new vacation home or another grandchild, right up to deadline. But if you are still "challenged" by this procedure, don't worry – you can send your bio information, essay and photos directly to Reunion Press in the enclosed envelope, and they will input it for you. Don't let this be an excuse not to submit!

Content questions may be addressed to Larry Crutcher (lawrence@crutcher.com) or anyone on the Reunion Committee.

Our goal is to mail the 50th Reunion Class Book in January 2014. While submissions will be closed on September 15, 2013, earlier arrival of your material will greatly assist our book production process. We look forward, with your help, to making this the most valued and complete 50th Reunion Class Book in Yale's history, and to seeing you next May in New Haven.

Cordially,

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "Larry Crutcher". The signature is written in dark ink and is positioned above the printed name.
